November the Seventh

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson,
No. 4 Happy Hollow Lane,
Austin, Texas.

Dear Bird:

The enclosed letter from Mr. Perry is self-explanatory.

While the house sounds very interesting, and I should like to have title to one, I know you realize as I do that the last thing in the world we want to do now is spend any money.

If it is convenient, I wish you would talk to Mr. Perry and explain to him that you were just looking around indulging a fancy that you have had for a number of years.

My present plan is to leave here on Sunday night and go to Port Arthur to make a speech on November 11th. I may have to fly back Tuesday night depending on what action the Senate takes on the Neutrality Act.

Love,

Lyndon B. Johnson.
