OFFICE OF THE VICE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON

March 20, 1962

12:05 pm

Make a note I called Walker Stone and told him (see attached) first Mr. McNamara did not ask me to endorse him. Second, I didn't fight it; third, it hasn't been argued in the White House Conferences.

STAHR MAY LEAVE

Don't rule out possibility Army Secretary Elvis will accept presidency of Indiana University, despite disclaimers.

Mr. Stahr isn't happy in his job; Army isn't happy with him; and he hasn't fit into the McNamara team. Mr. McNamara would like to replace both Mr. Stahr and Army Chief of Staff George Decker if it could be done without embarrassment.

Odds-on favorite to succeed Mr. Stahr: Army Undersecretary Stephen Ailes, law partner of ex-Defense Secretary Louis Johnson.

The Veep Is in the Middle

Man on the spot in the RS-70 controversy is Vice President Johnson.

Defense Secretary McNamara wants him to endorse Administration decision against it. But Mr. Johnson fought hard in the Senate for the plane; argued for it in recent White House conferences.

Since then, Mr. Johnson has said nothing; regards this as a major concession.

JOHNSON'S ON THE SPOT, ALSO, IN TEXAS' MAY PRIMARY.

His former campaign manager, John Connally, quit as Navy Secretary to run for governor; now faces a hard fight with Gov. Price Daniel and others opposing him.

If Gov. Daniel wins, he will dominate state's policies and its delegation to the 1964 convention.
