					At the Ranch, the President greeted his guests -- Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krim of NYC who had arrived that morning -- Mr. and Mrs. Sid Davis and their son, Larry; C - Mr. and Mrs. Garnett D. Horner -- the President had invited them to come and have lunch w/ him at the Haywood Ranch -- and Bill Moyers had brought them.
					Then into the house to change clothes and join the others at the helicopter pad (airstrip)
	1:11 pm				Departed the LBJ Ranch via helicopter w/ Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krim, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Davis and Larry; Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Horner, C - Mr. J. C. Kellam, MF, VM (Sgts. Gaddis and Glynn) -- in the new 15 passenger helicopter. The President was in a very gay spirit -- and had donned dark green ski pants, a bright red polo shirt, and a bright red beret w/ a black ball on the top that Lynda had given him for Christmas, and brown and white sports shoes.
	1:27				Stopped enroute to the Haywood Ranch at the Nicholson Ranch to show his guests the Ranch house and area. All disembarked from the helicopter and went into the house w/ the President leading a grand tour
	1:45				The group returned to the helicopter and departed enroute to the Haywood Ranch arriving at 1:53 pm.
					Mrs. Johnson and others went to the patio where lunch was being served, but the President who had been joined by Judge Moursund when the helo landed, remained in the car w/ him and Mr. Kellam.
					The President finally joined for lunch -- hamburgers, et al.
					Near the end of lunch, Bill Moyers reminded the President that he had said for the press and photographers to come out and take pix of him before he went out on his boat, so that a game of "cat and mouse" wouldn't be played all afternoon on the lake. The President directed the "movie" and told people where to go -- which ones should be in the boat w/ him and which ones should be in the big boat.
