①	11:23a	11:40a			To the Flower Garden for REMARKS to the Senior Seminar Graduates of the State Dept Foreign Service School
The Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy is the most advanced training program in international affairs and foreign policy offered in the U.S. Govt. For a full academic year, the group carried out a rigorous program of studies in foreign and domestic affairs in partnership with a group of equal size, degree of achievement, and length of service, the latter drawn from other government departments in Washington. Members have had, on the average, about 20 years of government service.
The President made his remarks and then mingled with the crowd, shaking hands with each of the graduates:
