	12:59p				The President and Mrs. Johnson departed the main ranch by Lincoln Sedan with the President driving--headed east ofn Ranch Road One.
	1:05p				Turned east on Highway 290
	1:15p				✓ A. W. Moursund joined in Johnson City
	1:17p				Arrive Johnson City Fair Grounds for Cattle Auction The President sat between Mrs. Johnson and Judge Moursund w/ Ernest Stubbs next to Judge Moursund. The President yelled hello to some of the people around. They watched the auction through the sale of xxx three of the Weinheimer bulls. The President had a catalog of the stock to be auctioned and he marked in it the animals sold, to whom, and the selling price. The catalogue was carried out by the President and not seen again. Clint Hill:Mary S The President and Mrs. Johnson were seated about three-quarters of the way up on the right hand side. The sale pen was about 20 rows of seats. The animals to be sold were brought in and paraded around for the people to see. The auctioneer was seated on a platform behind the pens. The people there were obviously all serious ranchers, dressed in ranch togs, and the President looked like he was one of the group. The President and Mrs. Johnson both seemed to be enjoying the proceedings, although the President's cattle did not bring as high a price as hoped. Dr. Voss:Mary S
	2:13p				Departed the Fair Grounds, headed North on 281. The President and Judge Moursund drove out past where the trailers are made, pulled to the side of the road, talked a while, and turned around and went back south on 281. (Mrs. Johnson had left for the beauty shop during the auction.)
	2:25p				Arrive the Johnson City Bank. The President parked on the opposite side of the street, and he and Judge Moursund walked across and up to the apartments over the bank.
