					On the jetstar the President read a report from Walt Rostow about Nasser and a note about John Ben Shepard. The President gave the Shepard note to Mrs. J to read.
	11:32				Off the jetstar 12488 at the LBJ hanger area--Met by Liz Carpenter and James Pitt. Publ Defor Time Life Inc. Stay @ Guest House
					The President went to the Main House by golf cart with Mrs. Johnson Lynda mf, mary s Helen Williams
	12:00m				The President went briefly to his room, then at midnight asked marys if she, JJ, and mf wouldn't like to go for a walk to see Cousin Oreole. mf had already begun to get ready for bed, so she declined, but the President, Liz Carpenter, Jake Jacobsen, and mary s went for a walk, towards Cousin Oreole's house.
					On the way the President heard the pump by the river squeaking, so the group walked down to inspect it. The President asked the guard in the East post to listen for it and if he heard it acting up to call Dale Malechek so it wouldn't burn out again.
	12:15a	12:30a			The President, Liz Carpenter, Mary S and Jake Jacobsen at Cousin Oreole's (Clint Hill and Ron Pontius outside) The President commented on Cousin Oreole's paintings he had given her, and said that something should be to cover the windows so the sun wouldn't shine in and fade them. The President also said that he wanted to get another painting for her to replace the picture she had framed on one wall that he said looked like a calendar picture. Cousin Oreole started talking again about Vivian who had been promised a job with the space agency and come down only to be turned down. The President said he would see that she got a job, but for Cousin Oreole not to get any more customers in the future.
	12:46a				Arrive the Main House--to the bedroom and retired.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

fm Liz Carpenter (re Pres.'s visit to Coz Oriole's)
"She told him she'd driven to Austin by herself. . . and gave her a real hard time and told her to quit that. That she shouldn't do it, because she 'd done it, parked and gone downtown windowshopping. Then he told her all about the bake sale. . and admired her paintings on the wall and he told her to quit trying to find him customers for important jobs in Washington. And he said well "go on and get the one for that girl that's going to NASA."
