					OFF RECORD
					w/ mf
					en route the President talked to SS agent Bob Taylor about the stories resulting from the Manchester book maligning the Secret Service. The President said that he thought the Secret Service should issue some sort of statement defending themselves, but Bob Taylor replied that they had been given an order to keep quiet. The President asked Bob Taylor to look into the matter tomorrow.
C	8:48p				Arrived McHugh residence for DINNER
					The President relaxed w/ xx a drink before dinner and talked to Vicky and Si about their plans for the future--their apartment, their families, Si's business--just a relaxed visit. He told them of his visit w/ Mr. and Mrs. John Arata, and read to them Mr. Arata's ltr to the President. He said that he found his visit w/ this couple very moving, for here was a woman who only had two things--a son and a big daughter. The son she gave to her country in Vietnam--the daughter she gave to her God--a nun. The President said it was this kind of person who stood by you--the corporation presidents will run when the going gets rough, he said. He asked to be reminded to call Dorothy Nichols and tell her how much he appreciated her loyalty, and he also asked to have Mr. Arthur Perry in some time soon.
