	8:40p				Arrived OHare Airport, Chicago, Illinois
8:45p					President into car with Mrs. Johnson Colonel Reilly Jim Jones Bob Taylor Marie Fehmer pob
					On the way in the Colonel and the President talked anout the demonstrators that were supposed to be witing for him in Chicago. The Col. said that only about thirty had turned out and they left because it was too cold for them.
					The President asked Marie about the dog she took home - "on a charte red flight. Marie said the dog was fine and the family was impressed by how well-behaved the dog was. The President said "that's what happens when you put dogs on charter flights.
					The President also discussed with Mrs. Johnson and the Col. the cold wave in Chicago and what it had done to the blossoms.
					The President asked if ix we were running behind schedule and the Col. replied that everyone was waiting for the President and so honored that he would come all hte way to Chicago for this that the President should not worry in the least about the time element - but he did add that the schedule was very flexible and running about thwy way they figured it,
					The President asked Mrs. Johnson if she had seen the little pictures that he had made for Pat to enclose in the letter he sent to him today. Mrs. J said "no" but that sure was a good ix idea as everyone had large pics but no small ones to put in wallets.

					(The streets were not particularly lined up for the motorcade - but those that were (people) waved and cheered as the President went by.
	9:05p				Presidential motorcade arrived at the Conrad Hilton.
					A side or back entrance was used and the police had the people away from the door and across the street.
					The President walked into the hall and the cheers and applause was great.
					They played such songs as Happy Days are Here Again, Deep in the Heart of Texas, Hello Dolly (Lyndon) - the crowd was very enthusiastic and there were many young people who stood on the chairs and screamed and yelled. They were holding signs that said
					"All the Way with LBJ" - LBJ - please stay" - "God Bless You, LBJ"
					Sitting behind Marie and pob was alittle girl about 18 who was the most enthusiastic cheerer in the room and she practically was beside her self in enthusiasm and excitement. When Marie gave her a Presidential pen - she looked like the greatest thing in the world had happened to her.
					The room held about 2,000 people. It was only 1/3 of the crowd as there were two other rooms full of people who watched the President on close circuit television. The manager estimated that there were 6,000 people there
					Mayor Daly got up and introduced the President and Mrs. Johnson. (Mrs. Johnson first - as the President's friend and advisor of many years.)

					The crowd gave Mrs. J. an very warm welcome
WTH	9:08p				Then Mayor Daly announced the President
	9:09p				The President tried twice to start speaking but couldn't = the xx crowd just kept yelling and cheering for him. Once agin the band played "Hello Dolly (Lyndon)", "Deep in the Heart of Texas", etc. People just kept waving their signs and cheering.
	9.14	9:35p			Finally the applause stopped and the President started his speech. REMARKS - Democrat and Raising Dinner
	9:30p				The President stopped talking and once again the band took up its playing and the group just applauded and applauded. The President started to get off the dias - and he stopped and shook hands with everyone who was seated at the first table. It was a least fifteen minutes before he got near the door to leave. All this time the band kept on going - it was one of the most receptive and appreciative audiences
	9:45p				The President was stopped by a lady (who was being held back by the police and secret service men and a cordon they had set up) but this woman yelled Mr. President Please sign my card for me - it would be the greatest thing that ever happened on my life. The President took it and she said in answer to his question as to how to autograph it - just put to Annette. The President did autograph it - as he always will when someone asks him and he can - Annette was so appreciative and looked like she might start crying from excitement. The President then signed other cards and booklets that were part of the seating table arrangements.

Yates
					The President talked with various memebbers of the group. They served drinks and everyone mingled around. Mrs. Daley and Mrs. Johnson sat down at one end of the room. It was a large oblong room - not a hotel suite - it looked like a place where performers might sit to put make-up on, etc. There were mirrors along one wall. The President brought Marie and pob into the group and introduced them - by saying things such as "Marie has been with me a long time - she is my assistant" and pob has been with me a short time - having been in Lynda Bird's wedding" - (thus summing up of qualifications - I quess: note pob)
