					TODAY the President issued a statement regarding the truth-in-lending bill. "The action of the House and Senate Conferees on the truth-in-lending bill is a great victory for the American consumer. Since I became President, I have repeatedly recommended a strong truth-in-lending bill to protect the American consumer and tell him how much it costs for the money he borrows. I applaud the xx action of the conferees and I urge the House and Senate promptly to make this long over-due measure a reality for the American family." What prompted this statement was the fact that the tough x version of the truth-in-lending bill was reported out of the House and Senate Conference Committee.
