PROCESSING NOTE:

In doing routine preservation on the folders for the Whistle Stop campaign, the archivist noticed that the dates on the folders were incorrect and changed the date to accurately reflect the dates of the Whistle Stop.

The labels formerly said, "Whistle Stop 10/13-16/64" but now say "Whistle Stop [10/6-9/64]."

FOR RELEASE AFTER 6:30 P.M.
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1964

Office of the Press Secretary to Mrs. Johnson

THE WHITE HOUSE

The First Lady will make a four-day, 1682 mile whistle-stop tour through the South visiting small towns and large communities. Her daughters will accompany her on portions of the trip.

The "Lady Bird Special" will leave Washington early on the morning of October 6 and wind up four days later on October 9 in New Orleans.

The co-chairmen of "The Lady Bird Special" will be Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of the Louisiana Congressman, and Mrs. Donald Russell, wife of the Governor of South Carolina.

Mrs. Johnson has specifically asked that enough "elasticity" be placed in the schedule to permit some unscheduled stops in smaller towns.

Mrs. Russell accepted her assignment "with all my heart." She said, "Helping in the election campaign of President Johnson is most important and exciting work."

"We have been in touch with the states where Mrs. Johnson will go, and everyone is eager to welcome her," Mrs. Boggs said. "In fact, our problem already is that we can't stop everywhere."

Mrs. Boggs said that a whistle-stop hospitality committee is being formed to pass out campaign buttons at the various stops.

"We are already receiving requests for -- not only buttons and bumper stickers -- but a brochure on how to organize a women's drive for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket," Mrs. Boggs said. "I think this shows that women in the south are not only interested in the national ticket, but in doing specific organization work in their own neighborhoods."

Mrs. Russell's husband, who became governor in 1963, formerly served as president of the University of South Carolina from 1952 to 1957. Mrs. Boggs' husband has been Democratic Whip of the House of Representatives since 1960.

The train schedule is still incomplete, but it is planned that the train will make stops in Virginia on the first day; North and South Carolina on the second day; Georgia, Florida on the third day; and Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana on the fourth.

The train will follow a coastal course generally with stops already planned in Richmond, Norfolk, Raleigh, Charlotte, Columbia, Charleston, Valdosta, Savannah, Tallahassee, Pensacola, Mobile, Biloxi, and New Orleans.

It will consist of Mrs. Johnson's hospitality car, two diners, a press car and as many modern bedroom and duplex sleepers as needed to accommodate press and the First Lady's guests. It will travel over six rail lines.

Campaigning by train has been done since the 1880's according to Dewey Long, Assistant Chief of Transportation. Long, who first handled train campaign arrangements for an occupant of the White House in 1936, is setting up Mrs. Johnson's trip.

Every station and grade crossing the train passes will be noted for Mrs. Johnson.

SNACKS TO BE SERVED ON BOARD
"THE LADY BIRD SPECIAL"

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's whistle-stop train, "The Lady Bird Special", will also feature another "special" -- special LBJ Ranch and Southern dishes to be served on the train at "snack time" all four days between the hours of 4:00 p.m. and the stopping time for the night. A different ranch and southern dish will be served each day to those riding on the train in addition to the regular menu.

LBJ RANCH DISHES

Chili con Queso

1 No. 2 can tomatoes	4 tbsp. chili powder
1 large onion chopped fine	1 tbsp. powdered comino seed
1 bud garlic chopped fine	1 tsp. oregano
1 tsp. salt	1 lb. aged cheddar cheese

Simmer all this except cheese slowly for about 2 hours, covered, stirring often. Uncover, turn heat up high and stir constantly until all fluid is gone and you have a thick paste. This paste can be frozen. If so, set out to thaw a couple of hours ahead allowing for about 30 minutes in a double boiler before serving time. Add to it, in double boiler, 1 pound best aged cheddar cheese cut up in chunks. Cover and let stand over water that is simmering, not boiling, as boiling water tends to make cheese stringy. Stir occasionally to mix well. Taste and add salt if needed. Serve in a chafing dish with large size fritos if desired, but tortillas quartered and fried in deep fat are better.

Pickled Okra

Fresh okra	1 hot red pepper, for each pint jar
1 quart white vinegar	1 hot green pepper, for each pint jar
1/2 cup water	2 cloves of garlic
1 tsp. dill seeds

Place 1/2 teaspoon dill seed in bottom of each jar. Wash okra and pack as tightly as possible in jars -- being careful not to bruise. Add 1/2 teaspoon dill seed, the red and green peppers, and the garlic. Bring vinegar, water and salt to boil and pour this hot mixture over the okra. Seal and allow to stand two weeks. Serve icy cold. Makes approximately four pints.

Guacamole

2 small ripe tomatoes, peeled	1 large onion, quartered
3 very ripe avocados, peeled	1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. dried red chili peppers with seeds, or 6 dashes of tabasco

Put tomatoes and onion through a food mill. Set aside to drain well. Just before serving, mash avocado to a pulp with a fork. Add salt and dried pepper. Mix in onions and tomatoes thoroughly. A little lemon juice may be added to prevent darkening. Serve as a dip with toasted tortillas.

Chili Dip (for 100)

Saute 6 pounds lean ground beef with bacon or beef fat. When cooked, add 2 tbsp. fat in skillet and blend in 1 cup flour. Heat a can of beef consomme and pour it in, stirring until mixture is smooth. Put it in a large pan with the beef and add 6 large onions chopped, another can beef consomme, 6 ounces chili powder, 2 tbsp. powdered comino seed, 1 tbsp. oregano, and 2 tbsp. salt. Simmer for 30 minutes stirring often. Turn up heat, and stir continually until it becomes thick. (This can be frozen.) Heat in double boiler with 6 pounds cheddar cheese. Mix well and see if needs salt. Serve with fried tortillas.

SOUTHERN DISHES

Crab spread (for 100)

Two pounds fresh crab meat, mashed well. Mix with 2 pints mayonnaise, 1 pint sour cream, 12 hard boiled eggs chopped, 4 cups chopped celery, a container of frozen chopped chives, a can of dried parsley flakes, and the juice of 2 lemons. Salt and black pepper to taste. Keep cold.

Mrs. Herman Talmadge's recipe for Ham

Place ham in roaster, fat side up. Pour two inches of water into pan. (Ginger ale, apple juice or cider, orange, pineapple or grapefruit juice, Coca-Cola may be substituted for the water.) Roast in moderate oven (350 F. degrees) approximately 20 minutes per pound or until done. Baste often. When nearly cooked, remove the rind and trim off some of the fat. Score the surface of the fat in diamond shapes, and use one of the following glazes:

Cover the fat with a past made of one generous teaspoon of dry mustard and one tablespoon of prepared mustard. Pour over ham 1 cup of orange, pineapple, or grapefruit juice, and return to hot oven (450F.) Uncover. Finish baking. Baste frequently.

Or, stud the diamond shapes with cloves and cover with brown sugar and honey. Add apple juice or cider. Glaze in hot oven (450 F. degrees), baste frequently.

FACT SHEET ON
MRS. LYNDON B. JOHNSON'S WARDROBE
FOR THE WHISTLE-STOP TOUR

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will take with her on her forthcoming whistle-stop tour of the South, a variety of clothes which she selected both for their good style, for their usefulness, and for varying weather.

Among dresses which she will take will be a bright red wool jersey and a chamois colored jersey, both with simple, straight lines, which will "pack well, wear well, and be as good in three years time."

The First Lady will also take an American beauty red wool dress and jacket combination. With the jacket on, it is appropriate for morning functions and without the jacket, it is useful for afternoon receptions. It has an "easy skirt and yet it is slim-fitting", and the cut of this dress "makes it easy to get on trains as well as to follow a fast-moving husband."

Included also in the wardrobe will be an off-white rough weave coat which will go "over everything." For hot days, the First Lady will take a pale green sleeveless silk dress with an easy skirt, with a casual avocado green coat to go over it in cooler weather. The coat has three-quarter length sleeves and a slim skirt.

She will also take a bright green alaskine dress which is basic and good for afternoon affairs. This has an A-line skirt and three-quarter length sleeves.

For the final dinner in New Orleans, Mrs. Johnson will wear a beige alaskine A-line dress with short sleeves, with a matching coat with a small round collar which stands out from the face and with covered buttons.

Mrs. James L. Martin

Whistle Stop
Advanced Ladies

Mrs. James L. Martin is a young housewife who is spending all her volunteer time these days in an unusual combination of church and country.

Her "conversion" to this new emphasis in her life began with the assassination of President Kennedy last November. As the wife of the director of Technical Advisory Services of the National Association of Counties, Barbara Jean Martin was living in Washington at the time.

"When this terrible thing happened, I was out in the yard hanging up diapers," she recalls. "It suddenly occurred to me that really I knew nothing about politics and that perhaps I was neglecting a necessary part of Christian citizenship. And I knew that I was passing up opportunities to serve and to learn because we live here in the Capitol City where we can see history in the making."

Barbara Martin feels very strongly that women can participate in their church work and at the same time "make the art of politics a respectable endeavor."

The varied training for this lady of many talents began with vocal singing on radio as a child. She majored in drama at the University of California and subsequently won scholarships for further study at the College of the Pacific. Her California activities ranged up and down the West Coast - from an MGM screen test to singing in "The Messiah," from summer stock in musical comedy to vocal auditions for Ezio Pinza and Rudolf.

Meanwhile, as a sophomore at the University of California, Barbara had plunged into active work with Campus Crusade for Christ. In this work she channeled her speaking and vocal talents into such programs as the Billy Graham Crusade in California.

A housewife in the Washington commuter suburb of Greenbelt, Maryland, and the mother of two children - John Paul, 4, and Mary Sue, 2, Mrs. Martin also finds time to be active in the Wallace Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Like other volunteers in the Whistle Stop campaign tour, she is leaving her family at home for a few days to have a part in Mrs. Johnson's historic tour of the South.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 29, 1964
B-3797

The White House today named 11 women to serve as coordinators in the eight southern states which Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will visit during her Whistle Stop campaign trip, October 6-9.

Serving as co-chairmen of the "Lady Bird Special" are Mrs. Hale Boggs, whose husband is Congressman from the 2nd District of Louisiana and the Majority Whip of the House, and Mrs. Donald Russell, wife of the Governor of South Carolina.

Mrs. Boggs and Mrs. Russell will make the complete tour with Mrs. Johnson, while the White House coordinators have been assigned to the various states along the route.

Serving as personal representatives of President and Mrs. Johnson, the White House coordinators will assist local committees in making arrangements for the tour, which marks the first time that a First Lady has campaigned on her own from a special train.

These coordinators, together with Mrs. Boggs and Mrs. Russell, will leave Washington, D.C., Tuesday, September 29, one week in advance of the train. They will attend a series of regional meetings along the Whistle Stop route. At each major stop, one White House coordinator will remain to work in that area.

As housewives and campaign volunteers, the group were selected because of their particular interest in the South. The group of coordinators and their state assignments include:

Mrs. William P. McClure and Mrs. Howard W. Young, Virginia; Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburg Bush, Mrs. Fred W. Morrison, and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, North Carolina; Mrs. Cecil E. MRS. HALE BOGGS (LINDY)
co-chairman
"LADY BIRD SPECIAL"
October 6-9

Mrs. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, has been appointed by the White House as co-chairman of the "Lady Bird Special," a campaign train which will tour eight southern states October 6-9. Serving with her will be Mrs. Donald Russell, wife of the Governor of South Carolina.

Mrs. Bogg's husband is the Democratic Congressman from the 2nd district of Louisiana and the Majority Whip of the House.

"Lindy," as Mrs. Boggs is known to her many friends and associates has become a by-word in the Washington vocabulary. When someone has a job to do or a question to be answered or a problem to be solved - "call Lindy" is often heard.

Behind the soft Southern accent of her native New Orleans, Lindy Boggs can use, in turn, courtesy, persuasion, or firmness to make a point or complete a task.

Mrs. Boggs is a popular public speaker and has campaigned in many parts of the country since 1940, when her husband first ran for Congress. As general manager of her husband's campaigns, she has worked with volunteers around the dining-room table, gone out in boats among the trappers and fishermen in a parish near the Gulf of Mexico, and accompanied her husband along the Mississippi.

In addition to helping in her husband's office in Washington, she has accompanied him on trips to Europe and the Far East.

Mrs. Boggs is a graduate of Sophie Newcomb College of Tulane University, where she majored in history. It was as women's editor of the college newspaper, The Hullabaloo, that she met Mr. Boggs, who was editor of the paper. Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Boggs taught history and English in St. James Parish.

Campaign assignments have been fast and frequent in recent years. She was co-chairman of Operations Cross-Roads in the national campaign of 1956, co-chairman of the President's Campaign Kick-off Dinner in 1960, and co-chairman of the Kennedy-Johnson Inaugural Balls in 1961. Mrs. Boggs also is a past president of the Woman's National Democratic Club.

Mrs. Boggs' civic interests are evidenced by her membership on the boards of Family and Child Services, Goodwill Industries, American Field Service, and Friendship Settlement House.

Congressman and Mrs. Boggs have three adult children - Barbara, the wife of Paul Sigmund, associate Professor of Politics at Princeton; Thomas, an economist in Washington; and Corinne, an associate producer of the television show "It's Academic."

MRS. BAREFOOT SANDERS (JAN)
White House Coordinator
"LADY BIRD SPECIAL"
October 6-9, 1964

Whenever Mrs. Barefoot Sanders of Dallas moves into a new situation, the inevitable question is asked: "Where did your husband get that name?"

Since Mrs. Sanders will be spending the next week in Florida as a White House coordinator for the "Lady Bird Special," she would like the question answered first. And then, she says, she can proceed with the business of coordinating the Florida train stops.

First of all, Barefoot is her husband's Christian name. It also happens to have been his grandmother's maiden name and has been traced back to Anglo-Saxon derivation.

Moreover, she says, they now "have a little Barefoot at home." He is Barefoot III, 2½, who is called "Biff" to avoid confusion.

A native of Dallas, Jan Sanders is a graduate of the University of Texas and has done graduate work in government at SMU and the University of California. She taught school for a time, and may go back to that profession when her children are older.

But politics and campaigning have been very much a part of her life.

She and her husband had been married only a week when he hit the campaign trail in a race for the Texas House of Representatives. One of Mrs. Sanders' contributions was to silk screen print the bumper strips. He won, and served three terms in the Legislature.

In 1960 Barefoot Sanders was director of the Kennedy-Johnson campaign in Dallas County, and is presently serving as United States Attorney for the northern district of Texas. Mrs. Sanders served as co-chairman of the first in a series of "Texas Teas" given for the Kennedy women and Mrs. Johnson during the 1960 campaign.

In between elections, Jan Sanders finds her greatest satisfaction in Junior League volunteer work with the Dallas Services for Blind Children. She makes Braille school books, setting up the type on metal drums and running off copies "just like a mimeograph machine."

Other community activities include leadership of Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups, board member of Casa View Methodist Church, and work in the PTA, Lawyers' Wives Club, and Democratic Women's Clubs.

"But I really love politics," she says, "because I feel it is one of the highest callings and the responsibility of all citizens in a free society."

In addition to Barefoot III, the Sanders family includes three girls -- Janet Lea, 11; Martha Kay, 10; and Mary Frances, 8.

MRS. BILL MOYERS (JUDITH)
White House Coordinator
"LADY BIRD SPECIAL"
October 6-9, 1964

When Mrs. Bill Moyers participates in the Whistle Stop tour through the South, October 6-9, the journey will mark a repeat performance for her. She was a part of the campaign trip which the Lyndon B. Johnsons made through Dixie in 1960.

Born in a suburb of Dallas, Judith Davidson Moyers met her husband, Bill, at the University of Texas. She graduated cum laude from the University with a B.S. degree in home economics, then went across the Atlantic to teach home economics in a high school in Edinburgh, Scotland, while her husband did graduate work at the University of Edinburgh.

Bill Moyers continued his studies for the ministry at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth Texas and Judith spent her spare time working as a home economist for an electric service company in Fort Worth and studying philosophy and theology at the seminary.

Along came the 1960 campaign and Bill Moyers joined the Kennedy-Johnson campaign staff. When the new administration took over the reins of government, Bill Moyers was given a high post in the Peace Corps. He left the active ministry, feeling that this movement offered great potential for American citizens to go out and serve all over the world. In recent months, he has served as special assistant to President Johnson.

Lyndon B. Johnson is not the only Johnson for whom Judith Moyers has worked. This year she is a volunteer in the 10th District of Virginia working for Gus Johnson's campaign for Congress.

The Moyers live in Alexandria, Va., where Judith says "the crop is flowers and children - except in election years."

In addition to campaign activities at election times, Mrs. Moyers works actively in the local Citizens' Association and the First Baptist Church of Alexandria. The Moyers children are Cope, 5½; Suzanne, 2, and John Davidson, five months.

MRS. DONALD RUSSELL (VIRGINIA)
Co-Chairman
"Lady Bird Special"
October 6-9, 1964

Mrs. Donald Russell, wife of the Democratic Governor of South Carolina, has been appointed by the White House as Co-Chairman of the "Lady Bird Special", a campaign train which will tour eight Southern states October 6-9. Serving with her will be Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of the Congressman from Louisiana and Majority Whip of the House.

Behind Mrs. Russell's soft-spoken gentle manner lies an intense desire to help the Johnson-Humphrey ticket carry in the South in November. To achieve this goal, she is moving with driving energy and devoting full attention to the multitude of details connected with the eight-state tour.

Mrs. Russell came into the campaign effort with a wide background in Democratic Party activities and Washington life. A South Carolinian by birth, she has worked with her husband through a career that has spanned both governmental and educational positions.

Pearl Harbor was on a Sunday, and my husband came to Washington the next day to work for the War Department she recalls. During the wartime years while he served as deputy director of War Mobilization and head of the Department of Economic Stabilization, she found a busy life in volunteer efforts. When peace came, the Russells remained in Washington, while Governor Russell serving as Assistant Secretary of State.

Then it was home again to South Carolina during the fifties for Governor Russell's six-year service as president of the University of South Carolina. He is now serving his second year of a four-year term as governor.

The past few weeks have found Mrs. Russell directing household duties at The Governor's House at Columbia by telephone from Washington.

"The constant job of entertaining goes on, and I find that is my major responsibility as the governor's wife," she says. However, during recent years she also has found time for volunteer work in the fields of mental retardation, cancer and heart work.

The First Family of South Carolina also includes four children. They are Donald, Jr., 26., who serves as assistant to the Governor "without title and without pay"; Mimi, 20, a student at the University of South Carolina; Scott, 19, student at Clemson University; and John, 13 a junior high student.

MRS. WILLIAM P. McCLURE (BETTE)
White House Coordinator
"LADY BIRD SPECIAL"
October 6-9, 1964

Mrs. William P. McClure comes into the planning for the "Lady Bird Special" as a White House coordinator with a family tradition that reaches back to Colonial Virginia and yet with a feeling for the problems of the late 20th century.

Perhaps it is the love of country handed down through the generations. Maybe it is the broadening influence of three trips to Europe. Or perhaps it is the day-to-day experiences as a Junior League volunteer at the Florence Crittenden Home or the House of Mercy in Washington, where she deals with the poignant problems of unwed mothers and the adoption of their babies.

At any rate, Bette McClure is leaving home and family to plunge into political campaigning for the first time because she believes in the responsibility of all citizens to contribute something to the aid of their party.

Elizabeth Ruffin Bellingrath was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, and her name alone denotes a proud family heritage. Her father's family name is woven into the historical fabric of Arkansas and Alabama, her great-uncle Walter Duncan Bellingrath having developed the famous gardens at Mobile.

The Ruffins had their roots in Virginia. Mrs. McClure is a direct descendant of Lord Delaware and also of William Claiborne, a Colonial secretary of the Old Dominion. Claiborne, who came to America in 1621, was appointed as an early-day surveyor. In recent excavations at Williamsburg, his grave was found in the Bruton Parish cemetery, his name embedded in the casket with brass tacks.

For many years, the Claiborne homestead was Sweet Hall, built in 1720 in King William County. At the time of the Revolutionary War, Sweet Hall was occupied by the Claiborne descendants, - the Ruffin family.

Mrs. McClure, a graduate of Finch Junior College in New York City, worked for a time as bridal consultant for The Tailored Woman in New York and also as a secretary for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington.

As the wife of a Washington tax attorney, she lives the busy life of American suburbia. Her household duties are centered on her 10-year-old son, John Daniel Wilkes, a student at St. Alban's School and a "avid Democratic campaigner."

MRS. CECIL E. BURNEY (KARA)
White House Coordinator
"Lady Bird Special"
Oct. 6-9, 1964

Mrs. Cecil E. Burney, wife of a Texas attorney from Corpus Christi, has spent the past 16 years working actively as a volunteer for the Democratic Party and "especially for the Lyndon B. Johnsons."

As a housewife and the mother of three children, the "Whistle Stop Tour" represents her first campaign effort beyond the South Texas area.

"There always seemed to be a job to do at home," she explains. "But this time all Texas Democrats are united in a single effort to elect the Johnson-Humphrey ticket, so I felt there were plenty of others back home to keep the campaign moving."

Born in Dallas, Kara Burney graduated in 1943 from Texas Technological College where she served as editor of the colleg yearbook. College summers were spent on weekly newspapers. From college, she joined the staff of the Caller-Times in Corpus Christi, serving as women's editor for five years prior to her marriage.

In 1957 the Burneys attended the American Bar Association meeting in London and from there toured behind the Iron Curtain for two weeks. Mrs. Burney's series of feature stories on their travel experiences were published in The Caller-Times.

"Since we were among the first tourists to Russia after the travel bans were lifted, there was considerable interest in our trip and impressions. My husband and I made some 200 talks in South Texas in that year of the first Sputnik," she recalls.

A Presbyterian, Mrs. Burney recently served a two-year term as president of the Women of the Church and also served as Presbyterian secretary. Other community interests have included the League of Women Voters, before she got "too partisan;" and as a board member of Friends of the Library, the YWCA, and the Family Counseling Service. She is currently serving on the City Charter Commission.

The Burney children are Cecil, Jr., 14, a student at The Hill School, Pottstown, Pa.; Karita, 10; and Frank, 9.

As for her husband's role in the campaign, she explains that he is back in South Texas directing the campaign efforts of the 14th Congressional District, which includes 19 counties. He spent several weeks this summer in Atlantic City as President Johnson's representative on the birthday committee which arranged the festivities on the final night of the convention.

MRS. TAZEWELL T. SHEPARD, JR. (JAN)
White House Coordinator
"LADY BIRD SPECIAL"
October 6-9, 1964

A campaigner for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket with ancestral roots deep in the Southland is Mrs. Tazewell T. Shepard, Jr., daughter of Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama.

The business of campaigning is not new to Julia Ann Shepard, or Jan as she is called. As a small girl, she hit the campaign trail with her father in Alabama when he ran for Congress and was elected the same year that President Johnson was elected to Congress.

In 1952, she traveled all over the country with her father when he was running as the vice-presidential nominee on the national ticket with Adlai Stevenson.

The first campaign was done by car, and the 1952 campaign was by plane, so this is Jan Shepard's first whistle-stopping.

After spending her childhood in Huntsville, Ala. she moved with her parents to Washington after her father's election. She is a graduate of Holton Arms School in Washington, D.C., and attended Randolph Macon Woman's College in Virginia.

Jan's husband, also a native of Alabama, is now a Naval captain serving on deployment with the Sixth Fleet. He formerly served as Naval Aide to the late President Kennedy and to President Johnson before taking command of a ship. For his Naval service during World War II he won the Navy's highest award for bravery - the Navy Cross.

The ancestors of both Capt. and Mrs. Shepard were among the earliest settlers of Alabama and though they both have travelled around the world, they feel that Alabama will always be home.

One of Capt. Shepard's Southern ancestors Dr. Joseph Hamilton, was an outstanding hero during the Civil War. The City of Savannah presented Dr. Hamilton with a silver service for his part in saving so many lives during the yellow fever epidemic at the end of the war.

Having known President and Mrs. Johnson since childhood, Jan Shepard says she has long been one of their greatest admirers.

"Nothing could thrill me more than to have the chance to go through my own Southland to urge my family and friends to help the Lyndon Johnsons in this campaign effort," she said.

Re: Potential visit of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to the grave of the mother of President Andrew Jackson at Charleston, S.C.

The background as furnished by Dr. Neill W. Macaulay, a Columbia dentist:

Jackson's mother left her sons, Andrew and Robert, in Lancaster, S.C., where they had been wounded at the Battle of Hanging Rock in the Revolutionary War, to go to Charleston to nurse Continental soldiers. Yellow fever was rampant and she knew that she would never return.

She died in Charleston on a day in November, 1780, and was buried in a "Potter's Field."

In January, 1942, Dr. Macaulay and five (5) other soldiers stationed at Fort Moultrie decided that it was a shame that the mother of President Jackson should lie in an unmarked grave. They enlisted the help of W.W. Ball, longtime editor of the Charleston News and Courier to try to get a marker. Even as late as 1942 the Charleston feeling was that Jackson himself might be reasonably acceptable but that his mother had been common.

Ball was unsuccessful at rallying Charlestonians, but he encouraged Macaulay and the others to mark her grave. They had the marker engraved in Columbia, S.C. and shipped by army truck to Charleston. On Ball's advice, they did this under cover of night lest that incur the wrath of the Charleston aristocracy. They put it in place under cover of night. It is inscribed with the last words Mrs. Jackson spoke to her wounded sons: "Andy, never tell a lie, nor take that which is not your own, nor sue for slander; settle them cases yourself."

In view of the corruption charges leveled against President Johnson it would seem that this quote would be magnificently appropriate for him. I would have Mrs. Johnson stop the train and make her way to the grave, her purpose not being known to the national press until that moment. The soft sell is imperative.

 Re: Speakers for "Union Women United for LBJ and HHH" Rallies.

The National Office of COPE is convinced that the issue of war and peace is of compelling importance in this election. We are also aware that women are particularly responsive to this issue.

The difference in foreign policy between our President and his Republican contender are so dramatic and the consequences of their potential action so significant to us all, we feel a special effort must be made to reach our trade union women on this issue.

We are, therefore, urging in several of our states that a statewide or area-wide rally of "Union Women United for LBJ and HHH" be organized. We have in preparation two leaflets - one entitled "The Issue is Peace" and the other, "100 Million Lives in One Hour". There will also be special buttons "Union Women United for LBJ and HHH" and special ribbons with the slogan "A Strong America in a Peaceful World", for our "Union Women United for LBJ and HHH" rallies.

May I point out here, that the women of the labor movement are not necessarily Democrats. Indeed, in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, the presence of Mrs. Johnson at Democratic rallies and receptions does not at all guarantee that labor women will be in attendance.

We are emphasizing that the widest possible base should be used for solicitation of attendance to these rallies. Union women, wives of union members, mothers, sisters, daughters and auxiliary members - all women of the community who identify themselves and their interest with the union movement will be welcomed to attend.

We hope through the enthusiasm engendered at these rallies to recruit thousands of union women to participate in this election. For the first three of these - Indiana, Pennsylvania and Ohio - may I emphasize that Mrs. LBJ, herself, is an essential ingredient to the success of the program.

any Oct weekend.
Pennsylvania hopes to have Mrs. Johnson on Saturday, October 10, or Saturday, October 17th, or Saturday, October 24th, preferably in the late morning or early afternoon. The plan is to hold the rally in Allentown. There is reasonable assurance that some twenty to twenty-five thousand women will participate - if Mrs. Johnson is there. The present plan is to have a combination Mrs. LBJ and Genevieve Blatt rally. The plan is to bus women in from neighboring communities, to have floats, a parade, a box lunch, etc. Needless to say, Mrs. Johnson's participation can be as complete or as limited as she desires. But, the Pennsylvania people assure us that Mrs. Johnson's presence as a speaker is essential to the success of this program.

*any day
any time
Oct.*
Indiana hopes to have Mrs. Johnson in Indianapolis on Saturday afternoon between 1 and 4 p.m., October 17th. Again the presence of Mrs. Johnson is regarded as essential to draw the several thousand women which the state is now planning to recruit. No other speaker has been scheduled and none will be, of course, without the approval of Mrs. Johnson.

Ohio - Mrs. Johnson has recently appeared in Ohio, but may I point out that she has appeared at Democratic events and that the number of labor women involved was not great. Ohio has set no date or place, but rather, is waiting to learn if it is possible to have Mrs. Johnson before any further plans are made. Whatever dates are available will be promptly acted upon.

In the following two states, while Mrs. Johnson's presence would be a source of enormous satisfaction, the limited character of the rallies make other speakers acceptable, if necessary. Certainly Mrs. Humphrey would be a source of great pleasure. And, in both of the following groups we have been told that one of the Kennedy sisters would also be acceptable. These are:

Connecticut - Sunday, October 18th; Saturday, October 17th (this is the same date Indiana and Pennsylvania have asked for Mrs. Johnson); or, Sunday, October 11th. This is to be an afternoon rally in Hamden with from 500 to 750 women in attendance.

New York - In Buffalo on Wednesday, October 14th or Thursday, October 15th for an evening meeting. This date could, probably be changed, if necessary.

Needless to say, all arrangements for these meetings will be subject to Mrs. Johnson's approval. It is not our intention to have other speakers on the program, and we will give assurance that any other persons who appear on the program will be approved by the Democratic National Committee. However, in every case the president of the state or local labor council would certainly make an opening comment. It is reasonable to suppose that the Democratic senatorial candidate or the local Congressional candidate might be called upon to introduce Mrs. Johnson, assuming that she has been selected.

The only literature which will be permitted to be distributed will be the two leaflets prepared for the "Union Women United for LBJ and HHH" rallies. Every precaution will be taken to make sure that no unauthorized literature or personnel will be in any way identified with these rallies. Whether or not Mrs. Johnson wishes to have press conferences, etc. will again be her decision.

I assume that the Democratic National Committee or some member of Mrs. Johnson's staff (or Mrs. Humphrey's) will prepare a memorandum for the respective state COPE director, instructing him when she will arrive, the type of accommodations required for her and whoever accompanies her, and the "do's and don't's" that are involved in any plans for the wife of the President.

Due to illness, I have not been active in the State for the past year. My daughter, Mrs. Vernon R. Scott, 4113 Oakview, Columbia, South Carolina, has taken over for me and is doing a wonderful job in enlisting women. She was largely responsible for bringing a delegation of almost forty people to our Women's Democratic Meeting in the Spring. I will ask her to send you a list of women because she is in very close touch with them. Also, I would like for you to contact Mrs. Barbara Sylvester, 510 Camellia Circle, Florence, South Carolina, She is a ~~most~~ outstanding Democratic organizer we have in our State at the present time and can do a terrific job for the Party as well as suggesting other names.

In addition to the names previously suggested of ladies who might be interested in working for the national ticket, I offer the following:

SOUTH FLORIDA AREA:

Region 3 - Florida

Mrs. Hugh Cramer (Ann) West Hollywood, Florida
(Ann is vice chairman of the Florida State Democratic Executive Committee and was George's Chairman in Broward County.)

Broward County has a Democratic Woman's Club of which she is a member, but I do not believe there is affiliation of this club with the State and National Groups.

TAMPA BAY AREA:

I am a little at a loss on this group from over there, except for the President of the Florida State Democratic Woman's Club who is also the National Committeewoman (Elected last May).

Mrs. Annette Baker, Pinellas County - I think that she lives in Clearwater.

JACKSONVILLE AREA:

Mrs. Charles Henley - has been a delegate to the National Conventions for the past three times although not on the slate this convention. Ruby Henley has been George's chairman in Jacksonville and always does a magnificent job. I believe that she is a member of the Democratic Woman's Organization.

ORLANDO AREA:

Mrs. Fay Owles (Husband's name unknown to me)
Winter Park Florida. Fay bears an excellent reputation as a campaigner in that area and has been active in the local and state Democratic Woman's Clubs.

PAN HANDLE AREA:

Mrs. E. A. Baughman, 490 E. Beachview Drive,

Subject: Per Capita Income in North Carolina

The following is a Table showing the level of per capita income in North Carolina in 1960 and 1963 and the changes in the per capita income between the two years. Figures are also given for the United States as a whole:

	1960	1963	Change - 1960 - 1963	North Carolina as Per Cent of United States
				1960	1963
U.S.	$ 2,217	$2,449	$ 232	--	--
North Carolina	1,562	1,807	245	70.5	73.8
Difference	$ - 655	$- 642	$+ 13	--	--

~~It will be noted that in 1963, per capita income in North Carolina was still below that for the United States. However, Between 1960 and 1963, North Carolina's per capita income increased faster than that for the United States as a whole -- by $13.00.~~
