Biographical sketch:

Don Hummel (b. September 8, 1907-d. August 18, 1988), businessman and politician, was the mayor of Tucson, Arizona, from 1955 to 1961. Hummel was a seasonal national park ranger while attending law school and eventually began running concessions in four national parks. He served as Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development during the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson, and was a concessionaire for the National Park Service, owning and operating hotels and other visitor services in several national parks.

Scope and content note:

This collection contains materials collected by Don Hummel during his service as Mayor of Tucson, Arizona; Assistant Secretary of Housing and Urban Development; and Chairman of the Conference of National Park Concessionaires. There is also material related to Hummel's previous work experience as a seasonal national park ranger and a concessionaire at various national parks. The files consist of correspondence, speeches, clippings, reports, memorandums, notes, invitations, maps, printed material and publication. The bulk of the series reflects Hummel's activities as concessionaire and Chairman of the Conference of National Park Concessionaires including merchandising and sales, contracts, fair labor, and franchising.
