Creator: Edwards, India, 1895-1990

Biographical sketch:

India Edwards worked as the Society and Women's Page Editor for the Chicago Tribune. She served in several leadership positions for the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee (DNC). From 1950 to 1956 she was the Vice-chairman of the DNC, and in 1951 was a delegate to the World Health Organization. In 1956 she resigned as Vice-chairman of the DNC to become the campaign director in Averell Harriman's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination. She was the Director of the Washington office of the New York State Department of Commerce, President of the Girls Club of America, and a consultant to the Department of Labor.

Scope and content note:

This series consists of papers collected by India Edwards while she served in various positions for the Democratic National Committee (DNC). The papers include correspondence, speeches, press releases, publications, transcripts, and lists. The materials cover the DNC's officials, organization, procedures, conventions, and meetings. They include biographical materials on prominent Democrats including Lyndon B. and Lady Bird Johnson, the activities of committees and groups within the DNC, the activities and achievements of women in the DNC, and DNC events.
