For your information and then, file please.

The Henry Dormann story is a long (and not too pretty one). DeVier Pierson briefed the file for the President just before the last trip.

No one in the White House should ever acknowledge a letter from Dormann ---- file will reveal why.

But, I thought you'd be interested in Dormann's letter.

Dear Marvin:

I hope you weren't sleeping when I called Sunday morning, but I was leaving for the day and wanted to lay that matter before you before I departed. I hope it was only a false alarm.

Two other recent experiences you should know about. I had a visit Friday from a fellow I had never met but who had been hounding me ever since I left the White House--a New York public relations man by the name of Henry Dormann, who explained that he was trying to establish a Library of Presidential Papers and that the White House was being uncooperative. After listening to him I can only express admiration for the White House if it is, in fact, discouraging Dormann. His proposal is not only irrelevant, but his chief motive--as he finally candidly admitted to me--is that if successful, it will diminish his image as a public relations hustler and build his image as a man devoted to the public interest, thus qualifying him to run for office. He threw your name into the discussion several times and seemed to indicate that you were not helping him; you are wise.

Michael
The second visit I had was with a strange man also named Dorman (one n). His first name was Michael. He used to work at Newsday long before I came and then went off to

I talked to Walter ^xJenkins and he has no interest in Mr. Dorman -- he merely met him at the suggestion of a friend when he was in New York. I explained the fears of the professional community (also Don Cook) over his lack of knowledge -- and the general feeling all was not what it seemed to be. Walter suggested perhaps there should be further checking by Deke.

Dear Marvin Watson:

I am enclosing a photograph of the Library of Presidential Papers and a copy of our release announcing the election of Robert F. ~~X~~Wagner, former Mayor of New York, as Chairman of the Board of the Library and Speaker of the House John McCormack, as Honorary Chairman. In addition are some clippings from the newspapers across the country which carried stories of the election of Mr. Wagner.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, President of Columbia University, and Ambassador Robert Murphy have agreed to act as our advisors on educational matters. In particular, Dr. Kirk will be assisting us in the work with universities and senior high school classes across the country.

We have already begun the collection of what will be the most extensive collection of books on the Presidency in the United States. There will also be microfilm and original copies of the papers of the Presidents. The microfilm copies will be obtained from the Archives of the United States and from the Library of Congress, with their permission.

In addition, the Library has begun a collection of memorabilia of the Presidents and actual papers of the Presidents which are now housed in private collections, and which the Library's Board intends to purchase.

There are three areas now, on which I would like to ask your advice:

December 9, 1965

Dear Mr. Dormann:

I have your letter of November 30 regarding your efforts to establish a library of Presidential papers. Apparently your letter crossed in the mail with that of Mr. Lee White, Special Counsel to the President, dated November 29. As Mr. White's letter states rather clearly, he has strongly recommended that the President not participate in this private undertaking. Although he bases his opinion on general policy considerations, I have discussed the matter with him orally, and he strongly recommends that the President not become involved in the specific project. He advises that the Federal Government through the National Archives and the individual Presidential libraries that have been established with Federal statutory support appear to be a more appropriate mechanism for the preservation and distribution of Presidential papers than a private undertaking.

In view of this very strong negative position, I must request that you make it crystal clear to all involved with the project up to now or who may be involved in the future that it does not have the support of the President or the Executive Branch of the Government. As Mr. White's letter indicates, our opposition to participation or endorsement by the President is not intended to express a judgment as to whether there is a legitimate need for such a library or on the merits of the specific proposal. These are questions which others must answer.

If you have any questions about the matter, I suggest you get in touch directly with Mr. White.

November 30, 1965Dear Mr. Dormann:

Jack Valenti has asked me to reply to your cordial letter of October 14 inquiring whether the President has appointed a committee to study the critical lack of doctors in the United States. I am sorry for our delay in answering your query.

Although the President has not directly constituted such a group, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is conducting manpower studies in all the areas over which it has responsibility. The problem of health manpower is among the foremost items on the agenda, and the manpower studies will explore the need for medical personnel of all kinds -- including the development of new categories of health personnel to meet the needs which will occur in coming years.

Please accept our best wishes, and our thanks for the concern which prompted you to write.

Dear Mr. Dormann:

Mr. Watson has discussed with me your letter of November 18 and your general plan for establishing a library of Presidential papers.

Putting aside the questions of whether there is a legitimate need for such a library in New York City and the merits of the specific proposal, it is my view that it would be inappropriate for the President to participate in a private undertaking of this character, either in an honorary capacity or as a member of a board of directors or advisers. It has been the general policy of President Johnson and a number of his predecessors to restrict severely their membership in private organizations during their time in the White House. I am certain that you can appreciate the rationale for such a policy.

If you have any questions about this, please do not hesitate to get in touch with me directly.

Dear Mr. Valenti:

Thanks very much for your letter of October 1st.

The 50th Anniversary meeting of the American Medical Women's Association will be held beginning Tuesday, November 9th through Saturday, November 13th at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel, Chicago, Illinois.

The President's message should be addressed to the President, Bernice C. Sachs, M. D., to the New York office of the American Medical Women's Association, 1790 Broadway, New York, New York.

The ladies would like very much to have the message reproduced, to be given to the members of the group during the Conclave, if this is convenient.

I would value very much your advice on one matter the ladies have inquired about. Is there at present a committee which the President has appointed for studying the critical lack of doctors in the United States and how to solve the problem? If there is such a committee, would it be possible to appoint the President of the American Medical Women's Association to it as a representative and if there is not such a committee, would it be possible to appoint one, with such representation?

There is a dire need for more doctors in the country, and the American Medical Women's Association, together with the AMA are doing everything possible to be of help.

I would value your advice a great deal.

Cordially,

Henry.

Dear Mr. Dormann:

Thank you for your letters. Please excuse my delay in writing but I wanted to obtain some information which I could pass on to you.

The background information on David Schulte, Jr., is appreciated. His name has been placed on the White House guest list for some appropriate function in the future. The biographical material has been forwarded to the proper persons for further study about his interest in government work.

Concerning Mr. ^{GENE POPE} Pope, I have sent the information on him to officials who are handling the recruitment of persons for government positions. As you already know, there is no White House dinner scheduled on the day you mentioned.

Finally with regard to the presentation of the Sam Rayburn Scholarship funds to the President, it is impossible to say when such an appointment could be arranged because of an already heavy schedule in addition to the international events occupying his time. You might consider the suggestion that Robert Anderson receive the funds for the Foundation and if an appointment here can be arranged in the future, I know that appropriate recognition could be given.

Sincerely,

NIGHT LETTER April 2, 1965

Dormann, Henry G.

Mr. Joseph L. Muscarelle, Sr.
8th Annual Charitable Dinner Dance
The Club 17
Ramsey, New Jersey

I am delighted to join ^XUnico Nation, as well as your many other friends in high tribute to your contributions to the life and progress of your community.

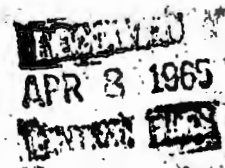

It is always a pleasure to applaud the accomplishments of one whose life has been so richly dedicated to the well-being of the less privileged of our land. The initiative, integrity, and energy which have characterized your endeavors are an inspiring example for every American.

The President has asked me to extend his warm congratulations on this auspicious occasion and his best wishes for the years ahead.

Dear Mr. Dorman:

Thank you for your recent letter telling us that Governor Hughes has now been secured as the principal speaker at the dinner paying honor to Mr. Joseph Muscarelle.

I am reasonably confident that there will be some sort of message from the White House, but the decision which has been made is that it will be extended for reading at the dinner itself rather than for the dinner program.

Thank you for keeping us informed of developments in connection with this event.

With every good wish,

Dear Mr. Dormann:

Walter Jenkins has passed on to me your telegram suggesting the appointment of a special committee by the President to look into the New York City racial disturbances.

As anxious as the President is to insure that the situation is satisfactorily resolved, including the basic causes for the unrest, this is essentially a problem for the City of New York. Quite obviously, any request from the City for Federal participation in any committee would be carefully considered, and the White House has been in touch with Mayor Wagner on numerous occasions recently. But in my view, the initiative should come from the local community.

In any event, your idea is one that should be kept in mind, and your interest is deeply appreciated.

I find it hard to make a judgment on this request. In the normal course of events, I do not think this is something that would be done. Mr. Walter Jenkins

The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Jenkins:

As you probably know I have been working closely with Cal Courtney of the Sam Rayburn Foundation as well as Bob Anderson in setting up a working arrangement to help support the Foundation in these next years.

All of these arrangements have now been pretty well completed and I think we have a good working arrangement with both Cal and Bob Anderson. I expect very shortly we will be meeting with you at the White House and Cal will be giving you a full report, if he has not already done so.

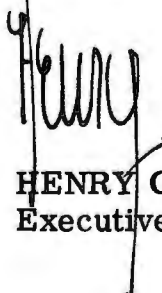

I wanted to write to you in the meantime concerning a problem which is extremely important to me. In the last few months three recommendations have, I believe, been made to the President regarding appointments on the President's Council on Equal Employment Opportunity. Mr. Joseph Muscarelle of New Jersey has been recommended by Governor Hughes and Bob Burkhardt, Secretary of State of New Jersey for a position on this committee. Mr. Muscarelle is one of the most prominent citizens of New Jersey and a large contributor to the party. I can supply you with the biographical data on him, although I believe the Governor has sent it along.

Second, Mr. Generoso Pope of New York City, who is working closely with me and is donating considerable money to the Sam Rayburn Foundation, is also on the suggested list by Dick Maguire of the Democratic National Committee for membership on this same President's Council on Equal Employment Opportunity.

And third, and most important of all, Mr. Norman Blankman has been nominated by Dick Maguire and a number of Senators and Congressmen from New York State, including Jack English, the Democratic Chairman of Nassau County. Norman Blankman was suggested as a member of the President's Council on the Arts. He is the founder of the Long Island Arts Center, the Long Island Summer Festival of the Arts, one of the largest now in the United States, and also President of the Pavilion of Fine Arts at the New York World's Fair. He is a most distinguished individual and also a good contributor.

I would value very much your advice on these three individuals, since we have been asking their help on many occasions but we have been unable to give them any word one way or the other, and whether these things will become an eventuality. Dick Maguire says they are now in your hands and so I guess I am in your hands, too, and look forward to hearing from you.

As always,

Dear Mr. Dormann:

This is in response to your letter of March 3rd to Mr. Walter Jenkins, which was forwarded to me because I handle the President's appointments and schedule.

I am very sorry that I must send a disappointing reply to your inquiry as to the possibility of an appointment being arranged for the presentation of a specially printed copy of a book on Michelangelo to the President by Mr. Fortune Pope and a representative of the Ricordi Printing Company of Milan, during the week of April 13th. However, his official schedule at that time is such that it is just not possible to include this. As a matter of fact, because of the unusually heavy official demands on his time, it has been most difficult to arrange appointments for personal presentations at any time.

We trust you will understand and know that the President is appreciative of your interest in writing, nonetheless.

In any case, I am saving all this cheer and exuberance for your visit to New York. We would like very much for you to be aware of the Library, what's its functions are and what it is doing, and it's difficult to know this without seeing it. Fortunately, there isn't anything we want you to do; there are no favors; we have complete

Should you have occasion to chat with him, I think he can
