

○ Mr. President, Mrs. Park, Distinguished Guests:

This is a happy ending for what has been -- to all of us in this land -- a most gratifying and happy day.

We are honored, Mr. President, to welcome you and your First Lady to this House of all the American people. We are especially grateful for the opportunity to meet and to know more personally the impressive associates you have brought with you

On this occasion, it is not necessary for us to dwell upon memories of the past which people of both our lands share together. It is the spirit of Korea today, of America today -- and of our meeting today -- to look forward, to the works we seek to do together.

2.

We have not forgotten -- we shall never forget -- in America or in Korea that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance. But likewise, Mr. President, neither we nor any who would live in freedom can afford to forget that the roots of liberty are strongest where the hopes of the people are respected and fulfilled.

3.
We are pleased -- as I know you, Mr. President, must be proud -- of the accomplishments your people have made in recent years toward the betterment of their life and the broadening of their individual horizons.

By their indomitable will and unstinting energy, the Korean people have pioneered in self-help projects that have reclaimed marsh lands and barren hillsides for new and more efficient rice production -- established cooperatives in fishing and seaweed marketing -- and created new job opportunities for the skilled and unskilled.

The Korean people have set an example for the world in transforming food for relief into food for development.

This is only one example of many I might cite.

Out of an association and alliance born of adversity, there has come a close and cordial bond of understanding and cooperation between citizens of both our lands.

We welcome the talent and enterprise and leadership of your young people studying in our land. We likewise, appreciate the understanding welcome you have extended to citizens of this country working with your people in Korea in so many fields.

I hope, Mr. President, that our visits together may be marked -- and remembered -- for the opening of still more opportunities for our citizens to work together in enterprises that will strengthen and enrich both our societies and all the great society of free and peaceful men.

Such opportunities are boundless -- in 6.

developing the agriculture of Asia, in improving the medical libraries of your land, in broadening the horizons of learning and research and scientific advance.

Works such as these are the works we of America want to do -- with your people, with the peoples of all of Asia, with the peoples of all the world.

These are the works mankind can do together if neighbor will leave neighbor alone to live under peace, not under fear. In other days and other times free men have been lacking in the strength to ○ defend freedom or preserve peace. But that is not true today.

In both the Atlantic and Pacific communities, free nations have both the strength and the resolve to defend what is priceless to them -- and to the progress of mankind.

Let none anywhere falsely assume that the debate freedom permits reflects division on the decisions and decisiveness which duty to freedom may require. The community of free men is a community united -- and so it shall remain until peace on this earth is sure and safe.

In this spirit, I ask you to join with me in a toast -- to the spirit of the Korean people, to the success of the Korean nation, to the leadership and resoluteness of their President and our guest,
President Park.

#

*Guest
Korean President
May 17, 1965*

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAY 17, 1965

OFFICE OF THE WHITE HOUSE PRESS SECRETARY

THE WHITE HOUSEEXCHANGE OF TOASTS
BETWEEN
PRESIDENT LYNDON B. JOHNSON
AND
PRESIDENT CHUNG HEE PAK
OF THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA
AT A STATE DINNER IN THE
STATE DINING ROOM

(10:00 PM EDT)

THE PRESIDENT: Mr. President, Mrs. Pak, distinguished guests: This is a very happy ending for what has been to all of us in this land a most gratifying and a very happy day.

We are honored, Mr. President, to welcome you and your First Lady to this house that belongs to all of the American people. We are especially grateful for the opportunity to meet and to know more personally the impressive associates that you have brought with you. We are deeply in your debt for having sent to this country as your ambassador the intelligent and genial couple -- Ambassador and Mrs. Kim.

On this occasion, it is not necessary for us to dwell upon memories of the past which people of both of our lands share together. It is the spirit of Korea today, and of America today, and, I think, of our meeting today, to look forward to the works that we seek to do together.

We have not forgotten, and we shall never forget, in America or in Korea, that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance. But likewise, Mr. President, neither we nor any who would live in freedom can afford to forget that the roots of liberty are strongest where the hopes of the people are respected most and fulfilled.

We are pleased, Mr. President, and I know you are, of the accomplishments that your people have made in recent years toward the betterment of their life and the broadening of their individual horizons.

By their indomitable will and by their unstinted energy, the Korean people have pioneered in self-help projects that have reclaimed marsh lands and barren hillsides for new and now much more efficient rice production. They have established cooperatives in fishing and seaweed marketing. They have created new job opportunities for the skilled and the unskilled.

Yes, the Korean people have set an example for the entire world in transforming food for relief into food for development.

This is only one example of many that I might cite just from the reports that Senator Dodd and Mr. Rostow of our State Department have brought to me in recent days.

Out of our association and the alliance that was born of adversity, there has come a very close and a very cordial bond of understanding in cooperation between the citizens of Korea and the United States.

MORE

We welcome the talent, and the enterprise, and the leadership of your young people studying in our land. We are particularly proud of the young lady who acted as interpreter here this evening though, who came to our land only a few years ago and who now works in our State Department.

We, likewise, appreciate the understanding welcome that you, Mr. President, have extended to the citizens of America that are working with your people in Korea in so many fields.

I hope that our visits together may be marked and remembered for the opening of still more opportunities for our citizens to work together in enterprises that will strengthen and enrich both of our societies and all of the great society of free and peaceful men.

We think such opportunities are boundless in developing the agriculture of Asia, in developing their natural resources, in improving the medical libraries of your land, in broadening the horizons of learning and research and scientific advance.

Works such as these are the works that we of America really want to do. That is where we want to spend our talents and our dollars -- with your people, with the peoples of all Asia, with the peoples of all the world, in building peace and happiness and prosperity.

These are the works that mankind can do together if only we can finally learn that neighbors should leave neighbor alone to live under peace and not under fear.

In other days, and in other times, free men have been lacking in the strength to defend freedom or to preserve peace. But Mr. President, in talking to you today, and in talking to the other leaders that have come this way, I know that is not true today.

In both the Atlantic and the Pacific communities, free nations have both the strength and the resolve to defend what is priceless to them and to the progress of all mankind.

So, let all listen and let none anywhere falsely assume that the debate that freedom permits reflects division on the decisions and the decisiveness which duty to freedom requires. The community of free men is a community that is united in danger, and so it shall remain until peace on this earth is sure, and until it is safe.

In this spirit, I ask those of you that honor us with your presence tonight to join me in a toast to the spirit of the Korean people, to the success of the Korean nation, to the leadership and the resoluteness of the Korean President and our warm and genial guests, President and Mrs. Pak.

MORE

A

PRESIDENT CHUNG HEE PAK: President Johnson, Mrs. Johnson, ladies and gentlemen: on behalf of the government and people of the Republic of Korea, I want to express my sincere appreciation for the most friendly invitation extended me by President Johnson.

It gives me a great pleasure to take this opportunity to convey the heartfelt friendship and deep respect of our people to the leaders of the United States who have to take care of vast ranges of issues in the free world, interests ranging from nuclear problems to fighting hunger and diseases in remote and less developed continents.

The relations between Korea and the United States have been closer than any that can be found between free nations. Now our two nations are pursuing, hand in hand, their common goals. I am convinced that such relations will continue generation after generation, not because of any political or economic considerations, but because of the strong determination of our two nations to preserve freedom and peace at all costs.

Today the Korean people are eager, more than ever, to achieve as soon as possible, an economy which can stand independent of foreign assistance. They are also determined more than anyone else to contribute to the common efforts of the free world toward achievement of their prosperity.

But you are well aware that a variety of unfortunate conditions faced by Korea limit her endeavors toward this end. With her territory still divided and with her meager economic resources, Korea is still ill afforded to accumulated capital. On the other hand she is continuously exposed to the threats of armed force and to threats who, through nature is yet to be determined in her neighborhood.

Under these situations Korea still has to maintain her military strength at the proper level, even tightening her belt, speed up her campaign for economic independence, and stave off the red influx in Southeast Asia, arm in arm with the United States.

Moreover, we must continue her efforts to minimize Korea-Japan relations in the face of various difficulties which are intertwined with the bitter emotions of our people over the unfortunate past they had with the Japanese. But despite these difficulties, we can still assure you with pride that your support and assistance will be better rewarded in Korea than anywhere else.

We dare say Korea will continue to be a faithful comrade, ready to march arm in arm with the United States in Asia for many years to come. We are very proud to do so and this may also be a source of pride to you all.

Now the time is coming when our country will be able to stand economically without the help of others. At this point, I am sure you and I share the consensus on how to see the important and yet difficult final cure.

I now propose a toast to our good friendship between our two countries, to the health of President Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, and to the everlasting prosperity of the United States of America.

E N D

Suggested Remarks
Toast, Korean Dinner
Monday, May 17, 1965

Mr. President, Mrs. Park, Distinguished Guests:

This is a happy ending for what has been -- to all of us in this land -- a most gratifying and happy day.

We are honored, Mr. President, to welcome you and your First Lady to this House of all the American people. We are especially grateful for the opportunity to meet and to know more personally the impressive associates you have brought with you.

On this occasion, it is not necessary for us to dwell upon memories of the past which people of both our lands share together. It is the spirit of Korea today, of America today -- and of our meeting today -- to look forward, to the works we seek to do together.

We have not forgotten -- we shall never forget -- in America or in Korea that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance. But likewise, Mr. President, neither we nor any who would live in freedom can afford to forget that the roots of liberty are strongest where the hopes of the people are respected and fulfilled.

We are pleased -- as I know you, Mr. President, must be proud -- of the accomplishments your people have made in recent years toward the betterment of their life and the broadening of their individual horizons.

By their indomitable will and unstinting energy, the Korean people have pioneered in self-help projects that have reclaimed marsh lands and barren hillsides for new and more efficient rice production -- established cooperatives in fishing and seaweed marketing -- and created new job opportunities for the skilled and unskilled.

The Korean people have set an example for the world in transforming food for relief into food for development.

This is only one example of many I might cite.

Out of an association and alliance born of adversity, there has come a close and cordial bond of understanding and cooperation between citizens of both our lands.

We welcome the talent and enterprise and leadership of your young people studying in our land. We, likewise, appreciate the understanding welcome you have extended to citizens of this country working with your people in Korea in so many fields.

I hope, Mr. President, that our visits together may be marked -- and remembered -- for the opening of still more opportunities for our citizens to work together in enterprises that will strengthen and enrich both our societies and all the great society of free and peaceful men.

Such opportunities are boundless -- in developing the agriculture of Asia, in improving the medical libraries of your land, in broadening the horizons of learning and research and scientific advance.

Works such as these are the works we of America want to do -- with your people, with the peoples of all of Asia, with the peoples of all the world.

These are the works mankind can do together if neighbor will leave neighbor alone to live under peace, not under fear. In other days and other times, free men have been lacking in the strength to defend freedom or preserve peace. But that is not true today.

In both the Atlantic and Pacific communities, free nations have both the strength and the resolve to defend what is priceless to them -- and to the progress of mankind.

Let none anywhere falsely assume that the debate freedom permits reflects division on the decisions and decisiveness which duty to freedom may require. The community of free men is a community united -- and so it shall remain until peace on this earth is sure and safe.

In this spirit, I ask you to join with me in a toast -- to the spirit of the Korean people, to the success of the Korean nation, to the leadership and resoluteness of their President and our guest, President Park.

##

WALTER TRAMPLER

Viola and Viola d'amore

In honor of His Excellency
The President of the Republic of Korea and Mrs. Park
Monday, May 17, 1965
THE WHITE HOUSE

Walter Trampler has done more than perhaps any other man to gain recognition for the viola as an instrument with a voice and tone all its own.

Born in Munich, he began his musical training at the age of 6. At 17 he was touring Europe as a member of the famed Strub Quartet, and before he was 21, occupied the chair of first violist with the Berlin Radio Symphony. A well-established concert career was interrupted by the war, escape to America and service in the United States Army.

In recent years, he has been featured artist annually at the Casals Festival in Puerto Rico, and faculty soloist at the Aspen Festival.

Mr. Trampler is active as a distinguished professor at New York's Juilliard School of Music.

Mr. Trampler will play some selections on the viola d'amore. This bowed instrument with vibrating strings originated in the latter part of the 16th century and remained in use until the mid-seventeen hundreds. The origin of its name is a mystery—perhaps the name is a glamorous paraphrase of "viola di morro," a similar instrument played in the Near East for centuries.

The use of the word "d'amore" is understandable because of the delightfully sweet sound of the instrument.

PROGRAM

Two movements from Arpeggione

Franz Schubert

La Caccia

Jean Antoine Lorenziti

Song and Dance

Jack Delano

Lawrence Smith, Accompanist

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF PROTOCOL

May 18, 1965

MEMORANDUM FOR - MRS. JUANITA ROBERTS
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Gifts exchanged during Visit of H.E. Chung Hee Park
of Korea

FROM THE PRESIDENT TO H.E. THE PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC
OF KOREA

DESK SET Tiffany silver desk set with Presidential seal in gold and engraved inscription.

FISHING
TACKLE Orvis Presentation Rod and Reel Set in wooden case.

BOOK Autographed (leatherbound) edition of "My Hope for America".

PHOTOGRAPH Autographed photograph in sterling silver frame.

FROM THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. JOHNSON TO H.E. THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. PARK

PAINTINGS Matching framed paintings of Blair House and the White House with gold plaques of presentation.

FROM MRS. JOHNSON TO MRS. PARK

CLOCK Accutron Boudoir Clock (by Bulova) on stand.

BOOKS Autographed (leatherbound) editions of "Treasures from the National Gallery of Art", "We The People - the Story of the U.S. Capitol", and "White House Guidebook".

FROM MRS. JOHNSON TO PARK CHILDREN

HI FI Portable hi fi with five albums of American music.

BEAR "Smokey-the-Bear" for boy aged seven.

FROM PRESIDENT PARK TO THE PRESIDENT

PHOTOGRAPH Autographed photograph in wooden frame.

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF KOREA AND MRS. PARK TO THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. JOHNSON

SCREEN Large screen with scenes of Korea depicted on each of the panels.

FROM THE PARKS TO MRS. JOHNSON

JEWELRY Set of jewelry set with Korean amethysts.

FROM THE PARKS TO THE JOHNSON DAUGHTERS

JEWELRY Set of jewelry set with Korean amethysts.

* * * * *

(Mrs.) Constance Dunaway
Office of the Chief of Protocol

O/CPR:CDunaway:cd
Copies: Mrs. Liz Carpenter/
Mrs. Bess Abell/Mrs. Lucy Ferguson

DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Monday, May 17, 1965

at eight o'clock

The President & Mrs. Johnson

H. E. The President of the Republic of Korea
& Mrs. Park
H. E. Key Young Chang
Deputy Premier and Minister of Economic Planning Board
H. E. Duk Choo Moon
Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Korea
H. E. Sung Eun Kim
Minister of National Defense
H. E. Jong Chul Hong
Minister of Public Information
H. E. Chong Kap Kim
Chairman, Committee of National Defense, National Assembly
H. E. Hu Rak Lee
Secretary-General to the President
H. E. The Ambassador of Korea
& Mrs. Kim
General Chang Kuk Chang
Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff
Mr. Hogan Yoon
Director, Office of Protocol, Ministry of Foreign Affairs
H. E. & Mrs. Yong Shik Kim
Permanent Observer of Korea to the UN

The Vice President & Mrs. Humphrey
The Secretary of State & Mrs. Rusk
Mr. Justice & Mrs. Black
The Secretary of Agriculture & Mrs. Freeman
Senator & Mrs. Spessard L. Holland
Senator & Mrs. Henry M. Jackson
Senator & Mrs. Norris Cotton
Senator & Mrs. Roman L. Hruska
Senator & Mrs. Joseph S. Clark
Senator & Mrs. Thomas J. Dodd
Senator Quentin N. Burdick
The Governor of South Carolina & Mrs. McNair
The Governor of Hawaii (John A. Burns)
Rep. & Mrs. John W. Byrnes
Rep. & Mrs. William B. Widnall
Rep. & Mrs. Harold T. Johnson
Rep. & Mrs. Samuel S. Stratton
Rep. & Mrs. Graham Purcell
Vice Admiral & Mrs. William F. Raborn, Jr.
Dir., Central Intelligence Agency
Hon. & Mrs. Winthrop G. Brown
U.S. Ambassador to Korea
Hon. & Mrs. Lloyd N. Hand
Chief of Protocol
Hon. & Mrs. William P. Bundy
Assistant Secretary of State
General & Mrs. James A. Van Fleet, USA, ret.
Hobe Sound, Florida
Lt. Gen. & Mrs. William E. Hall
Mrs-author Marguerite Higgins, Washington, D. C.

Mr. & Mrs. William Adams
Baltimore, Maryland

Mr. Clifford Alexander
New York, New York

Dr. & Mrs. Floyd G. Arpan
University of Indiana, Bloomington

Dr. & Mrs. Truman Blocker, Jr.
Exec. Dir. & Dean, University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston

Mr. & Mrs. Ernest D. Brockett
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

Mrs. Douglas Chandor
Weatherford, Texas

Mr. & Mrs. Herbert W. Cheshire
Mrs-Maxine Cheshire, Washington Post

Mr. & Mrs. Dong-won Cho
Donghwa News Agency

Dr. & Mrs. John J. Corson
Professor of Public & International Affairs, Princeton University

Judge & Mrs. Arthur O. Fisher
Dayton, Ohio

Mr. & Mrs. Abe Fortas
Washington, D. C.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles C. Gibson
Amarillo, Texas

Judge & Mrs. Luther Glanton
Des Moines, Iowa

Mr. & Mrs. Irving Goldberg
Dallas, Texas

Hon. & Mrs. John J. Grogan
Mayor of Hoboken, N. J.; Pres., Industrial Union of Marine &
Shipbuilding Workers of America

Mr. & Mrs. Harry B. Henshel
New York, New York

Mr. & Mrs. William P. Hobby, Jr.
Houston Post, Houston, Texas

Mr. & Mrs. Jack R. Howard
Pres., Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance

Mr. & Mrs. Peter Hurd
Artist, San Patricio, New Mexico

Mr. & Mrs. Charles M. Jackson
Washington, D. C.

Miss Lynda Bird Johnson
Daughter of the President

Mr. & Mrs. Seong Jin Kim
Orient Press Agency

Mr. & Mrs. Karl F. Landegger
New York, New York

Mr. & Mrs. Belford V. Lawson, Jr.
Mr-Attorney; Mrs-Associate Judge of the Juvenile Court, D. C.

Mr. & Mrs. Maurice Lazarus
Boston, Massachusetts

Mr. & Mrs. Jules W. Lederer
Mrs-columnist Ann Landers, Chicago, Illinois

Hon. Archibald MacLeish
Playwright, Conway, Massachusetts

Mr. & Mrs. Howard M. Metzenbaum
Shaker Heights, Ohio

Mr. & Mrs. William F. Price
Chicago, Illinois

Dr. & Mrs. Robert Scalapino
Institute of International Studies, University of California

Mr. & Mrs. Abe Schrader
New York, New York

Mr. & Mrs. John H. Secondari
ABC, New York, New York

Mr. & Mrs. Robert F. Six
Beverly Hills, California

Mr. & Mrs. Asa T. Spaulding
Durham, North Carolina

Dr. & Mrs. A. L. Spencer
Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Mildred Stegall
White House Office

Mr. George Stevens, Sr.
Film director, Culver City, California

Mr. & Mrs. James A. Suffridge
Pres., Retail Clerks International Association, Washington, D. C.

Mr. & Mrs. Walter Trampler
Violist and Professor, Juilliard School of Music, New York, N. Y.
(Mr. Trampler will entertain following dinner)

Mrs. Jeanne M. Vanderbilt
New York, N. Y.

Mr. & Mrs. Hunter P. Wharton
Pres., International Union of Operating Engineers, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. J. Parneil Woods
Fort Wayne, Indiana

#####

MISSFEHMER

POLICE

DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE
Monday, May 17, 1965
at eight o'clock

NW gate-party
SW gate-others
SC

The President & Mrs. Johnson

H.E. The President of the Republic of Korea
& Mrs. Park

H.E. Key Young Chang

Deputy Premier and Minister of Economic Planning Board

H.E. Duk Choo Moon

Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Korea

H.E. Sung Eun Kim

Minister of National Defense

H.E. Jong Chul Hong

Minister of Public Information

H.E. Chong Kap Kim

Chairman, Committee of National Defense, National Assembly

H.E. Hu Rak Lee

Secretary-General to the President

H.E. The Ambassador of Korea

& Mrs. Kim

General Chang Kuk Chang

Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff

Mr. Hogan Yoon

Director, Office of Protocol, Ministry of Foreign Affairs

✓ H.E. & Mrs. Yong Shik Kim

Permanent Observer of Korea to the UN

✓ ADAMS, Mr. & Mrs. William

✓ ALEXANDER, Mr. Clifford

✓ ARPAN, Dr. & Mrs. Floyd G.

✓ BLACK, Mr. Justice & Mrs.

✓ BLOCKER, Dr. & Mrs. Truman, Jr.

✓ BROCKETT, Mr. & Mrs. Ernest D.

✓ BROWN, Hon. & Mrs. Winthrop G. No CARD

✓ BUNDY, Hon. & Mrs. William P.

✓ BURDICK, Sen. Quentin N.

✓ BURNS, Governor of Hawaii (John A.)

✓ BYRNES, Rep. & Mrs. John W.

✓ CHANDOR, Mrs. Douglas

✓ CHESHIRE, Mr. & Mrs. Herbert W.

✓ CHO, Mr. & Mrs. Dong-won

✓ CLARK, Sen. & Mrs. Joseph S.

✓ COOPER, Mr. & Mrs. Chester L. No CARD

✓ CORSON, Dr. & Mrs. John J.

✓ COTTON, Sen. & Mrs. Norris

✓ DODD, Sen. & Mrs. Thomas J.

- ✓ FISHER, Judge & Mrs. Arthur O.
- ✓ FORTAS, Mr. & Mrs. Abe
- ✓ FREEMAN, The Secy of Agriculture & Mrs.
- ✓ GIBSON, Mr. & Mrs. Charles C.
- ✓ GLANTON, Judge & Mrs. Luther-----No admit card
- ✓ GOLDBERG, Mr. & Mrs. Irving
- ✓ GROGAN, Hon. & Mrs. John J.
- ✓ HALL, Lt.Gen. & Mrs. William E.
- ✓ HAND, Hon. & Mrs. Lloyd N.
- ✓ HENSHEL, Mr. & Mrs. Harry B.
- ✓ HOBBY, Mr. & Mrs. William P., Jr.
- ✓ HOLLAND, Sen. & Mrs. Spessard L.
- ✓ HOWARD, Mr. & Mrs. Jack R.
- ✓ HRUSKA, Sen. & Mrs. Roman L.
- ✓ HUMPHREY, The Vice President & Mrs. - NO CARD
- HURD, Mr. & Mrs. Peter
- ✓ JACKSON, Mr. & Mrs. Charles M.
- ✓ JACKSON, Sen. & Mrs. Henry M.
- ✓ JOHNSON, Rep. & Mrs. Harold T.
- ✓ JOHNSON, Miss Lynda Bird
- KIM, Mr. & Mrs. Seong Jin
- ✓ LANDEGGER, Mr. & Mrs. Karl F.
- ✓ LAWSON, Mr. & Mrs. Belford V., Jr.
- ✓ LAZARUS, Mr. & Mrs. Maurice
- ✓ LEDERER, Mr. & Mrs. Jules W.
- ✓ MacLEISH, Hon. Archibald
- ✓ MACRORY, Mr. & Mrs. Patrick
- ✓ McNAIR, The Gov. of South Carolina & Mrs.
- ✓ METZENBAUM, Mr. & Mrs. Howard M.
- ✓ PRICE, Mr. & Mrs. William F.
- ✓ PURCELL, Rep. & Mrs. Graham
- ✓ RABORN, Vice Admiral & Mrs. William F., Jr.
- ✓ RUSK, The Secy of State & Mrs. - NO CARD
- ✓ SCALAPINO, Dr. & Mrs. Robert
- ✓ SCHRADER, Mr. & Mrs. Abe

- ✓ SECONDARI, Mr. & Mrs. John H.
- ✓ SIX, Mr. & Mrs. Robert F.
- ✓ SPAULDING, Mr. & Mrs. Asa T. No CARD
- ✓ SPENCER, Dr. & Mrs. A. L.
- STEGALL, Mrs. Mildred
- ✓ STEVENS, Mr. George, Sr.
- ✓ STRATTON, Rep. & Mrs. Samuel S.
- ✓ SUFFRIDGE, Mr. & Mrs. James A.
- ✓ TRAMPLER, Mr. & Mrs. Walter No CARD
- ✓ VANDERBILT, Mrs. Jeanne M.
- ✓ VAN FLEET, General & Mrs. James A., USA, ret.
- ✓ WHARTON, Mr. & Mrs. Hunter P.
- ✓ WIDNALL, Rep. & Mrs. William B.
- ✓ WOODS, Mrs. J. Parnell

INTERPRETERS:

CHO, Mr.

CHO, Mrs.

CRANE, Dr. Paul

SONG, Mrs. Margaret

SHINN, RINN-SUP

The following people will be coming in Monday, May 17, 1965 at 10:00.SW gate, SC.

- ✓ALEXANDER, Mr. & Mrs. Clifford, Jr.
- ✓ARMENTROUT, Mr. & Mrs. Russell H., Jr.
- ✓BALDWIN, Mr. & Mrs. Phillip
- ✓BERNSTEIN, Mr. & Mrs. Robert
- BONG, Mr. David
- ✓CATER, Hon. & Mrs. S. Douglass, Jr.
- ✓CHO, Mr. Yung-Joong
- ✓CHUN, Mr. Wan-soo
- ✓COTTON, Mr. Mello
- HAN, Mr. Jae-woo
- ✓HARTMAN, Mr. & Mrs. Omar E.
- ✓HONG, Mr. Sung-won
- ✓KAY, Mr. Eun-soon
- ✓KIM, Mr. Jong-tae
- ✓KIM, Mr. Kyu
- KIM, Mr. Yong-soo
- ✓KIM, Mr. Yo-soo
KIM, SEONG JIM
- ✓LEE, Mr. Han-sui
- ✓LEE, Mr. Jung-suk

- ✓OH, Mr. Jon-sik
- ✓PARK, Mr. Kwon-sang
- ✓PYON, Mr. Yong-ho
- ✓ROBERTS, MRS JUANITA (NO CARD)
- ✓SMITH, Mr. & Mrs. Lawrence (no card)
- ✓STARK, Miss Peggy
- STEVENS, Mr. George, Jr. & guest
- ✓TILSON, Mr. & Mrs. Donald L.
- ✓WHANG, Mr. Chun-bong