Collection information:

The Lyndon Baines Johnson Archives File (LBJA) was established about 1958 as a file to retain items which were considered valuable or important enough to be saved rather than disposed of in accordance with records disposition schedules. Except for a period around 1960, Dorothy Territo (formerly Mrs. Springer) maintained the file from creation until 1969, when the papers were transferred to the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library.

In the case of early correspondence, including the House of Representatives years and the early Senate years, the items appear to have been located in other files and removed, probably when the files were screened for disposal. Items with red file notations along the edge of the pages were removed from the Policy Committee Files and filed here. Many items dated after 1958 appear to have been filed in the LBJA originally.

The LBJA was used extensively prior to the Vice Presidential years, and some items were added to the file, particularly the Subject File, while Mr. Johnson was Vice President. During the Vice Presidency, a separate VP LBJA Subject File was established. During the White House years, the LBJA File continued to be in Mrs. Territo's custody and occasionally material dated after November 1963 was added to the file. When the files were reviewed by the Library staff prior to making them available to researchers, the few White House items were transferred to White House Central Files. Cross reference sheets appear where these items were removed.

The LBJA consists of four main files:

1. Famous Names
2. Selected Names
3. Congressional File
4. Subject File

A memo which was found in Ms. Territo's Office Files explains the purpose of the various files and is attached (Attachment A). As the memo indicates, overlap and discrepancies were a part of the system. When checking a name in these files, a researcher will often find correspondence from the same person in more than one file. For example, Abe Fortas appears in both the Famous and Selected Names Files; Chester Bowles appears in both the Famous Names and Congressional Files.
