Aides Files: Joseph Califano

Scope and content note:

This collection contains materials created by Joseph Califano in his capacity as special assistant to President Lyndon B. Johnson. It reflects Califano's duties as senior aide for domestic policy, but also includes some materials related to foreign policy.

The collection comprises materials concerning urban renewal; poverty and economic assistance programs; civil rights; labor issues; health; education; housing; agriculture; the environment; science and technology; and energy, including pipeline safety and electric power. Also included are materials concerning legislative programs; annual Federal budgets; the United States economy; defense contracts; District of Columbia (Washington, D.C.) government; reports from and about various Federal government agencies; and materials related to the formation and progress of presidential commissions and task forces. The collection includes materials on the Vietnam War, treaties and the armed services. It contains information on political campaigns and elections; draft speeches; press contacts; accomplishments of the Johnson administration; and materials related to the creation of the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library.
