Scope and content note:

Edward K. Hamilton was a member of the NSC staff from September 1965 to December 1968. He came to the NSC from the Bureau of the Budget. During late 1965 and the first several months of 1966, he served as a junior staff officer under Francis M. Bator, who was Deputy Special Assistant to the President and Senior NSC Staff Member responsible for Europe and foreign economic policy.

By August 1966, Hamilton had become a Senior NSC Staff Member responsible for sub-Saharan Africa, a responsibility previously handled by William H. Brubeck (1963-64) and Ulric Haynes, Jr. (1965-66). Hamilton also continued into the summer of 1967 to devote roughly half his time to assisting Francis Bator with Europe and foreign economic policy.

Upon the departure in July 1967 of W. Howard Wriggins, who had handled South Asia for the NSC since 1966, Hamilton took over responsibility for South Asia while continuing to oversee sub-Saharan Africa. As a consequence of his new responsibilities and Francis Bator's departure in September 1967 (Edward Fried assumed most of Bator's responsibilities), Hamilton no longer worked either on Europe or foreign economic policy, except for foreign aid, which had been a significant responsibility of his since joining the NSC staff in 1965.

Hamilton continued to handle South Asia, sub-Saharan Africa, and foreign aid from the fall of 1967 until his departure in December 1968. Roger Morris of the NSC staff assisted him.

Subseries notes:

Boxes 1-4: Africa and South Asia

In addition to Hamilton's own material on Africa and South Asia, this subseries includes material on Africa generated by Hamilton's two predecessors in handling sub-Saharan Africa, William Brubeck (1963-64) and Ulric Haynes, Jr. (1965-66), and by Hamilton's staff assistant from September 1967 through much of 1968, Roger Morris. Also included in this series are Hamilton's files on Bulgaria, Lithuania, Japan, and the Asian Development Bank.

Boxes 4-7: Foreign Aid.
