Notes concerning the Senator's Activity

There was a crowd of Nixon supporters -- mostly ladies -- outside the Adolphus Hotel and inside the lobby lead by Congressman Alger. LBJ was ~~offended~~ informed of them and determined that he would go through the crowd. He demonstrated wonderful courage and made an outstanding speech, which many people considered his best. It was a particularly dramatic experience and he and Mrs. Johnson handled themselves in the best possible way. What was a very distasteful occasion was turned into a plus for the Johnsons.
