WEDNESDAY MORNING. SEPTEMBER 20, 1967

"Are These Trips Necessary?"

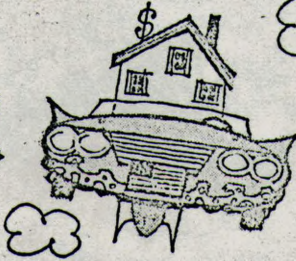

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, DEAR SPACE RACE, HAPPY B

On October 4, 1957, Sputnik I went up, heralding a new era of costly toys.

I have two Sputniks and you haven't any! My little doggy is in orbit! See him orbit! Bark, doggy bark!

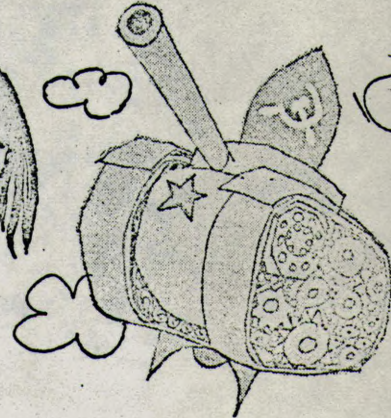

I have a split-level Vanguard rocket with automatic transmission in a nice neighbourhood and you live in a slum, so there!

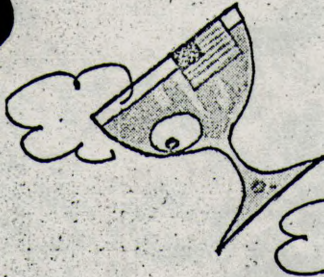

Ring around the rosy, my moon probe goes round the sun! You go around in bourgeois circles, all fall down!

I have a satellite that sends me weather data! It has air suspension and it tells me when it's raining! Commie patch, draw the latch!

Hammer and sickle, hammer and sickle, I know my onions and you're in a pickle! I hit the moon with my camera and you won't get any!

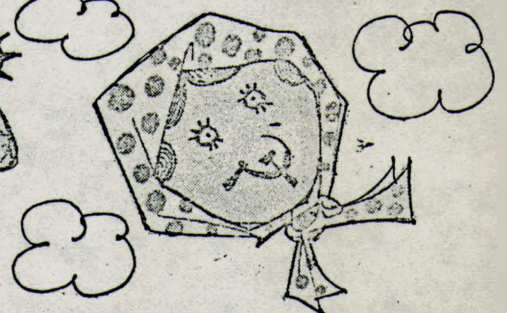

Peekaboo! I spy with my little eye! My missile detector goes round and round! A cat may look at a king!

Pussycat, pussycat, where have you been? I sent up a man and he vomited! He went to heaven and didn't see God!

Here I come, ready or not! My man went to heaven and did see God! Anybody round my base is it!

I sent up a lady! She's a big lady with muscles! She got married in a space suit! Red light!

Look a picture of venus! Simon says walk in space!

Semyon says I did! Take a giant step!

I'm going to the moon!

You didn't say "May I"! Go back! I'm going first!

You're not! I'm going first! I've got more money in my piggy bank!

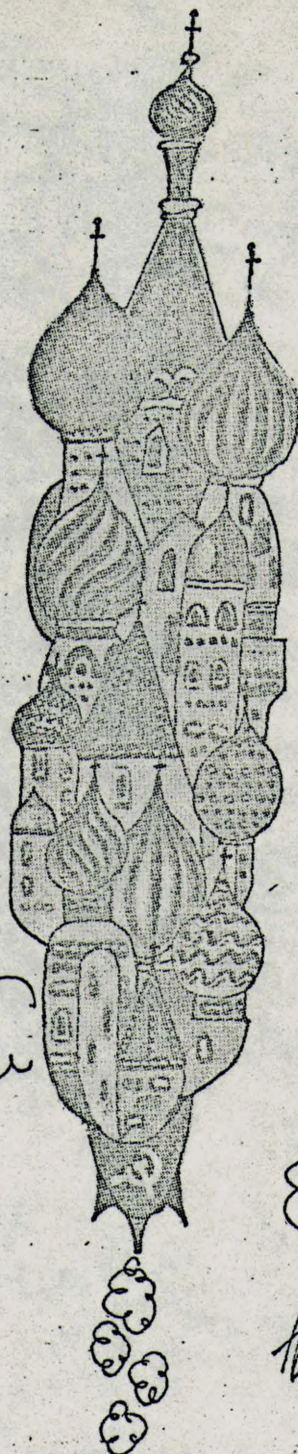

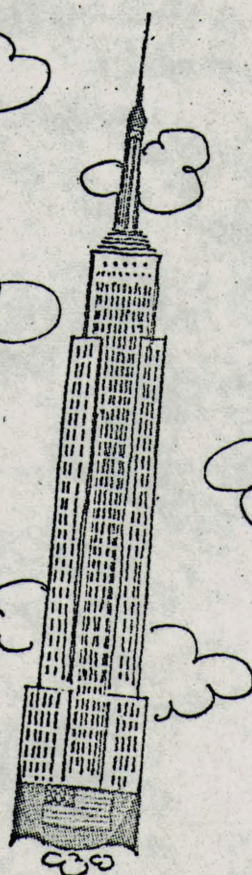

BIRTHDAY TO YOU (Now We Are Ten)

by HANDELSMAN

I sent a television camera up to the sky!
I can see "The Cloud
Show" in colour!
You can't afford it
'cause you're too poor!

One potato, two potato, I've got a dummy in orbit!
Your dummy plays
golf!

I'm going first! My Daddy says I can cripple my economy if I want to!

I'll cripple mine first!
I'll waste all my resources! You'll see!

Nyah!

Nyah!
